NOTICE

It has taken the compiler three years to gather together the facts contained in this family history and although we know it is not as complete and as accurate as we would like it to be, nevertheless we have done the best we could under the circumstances. It has been extremely hard to get returns from many families and in some cases we have been unable to get any returns at all. We ask you to receive this little booklet in the same spirit it is offered—of helpfulness.

MRS. ACKERMAN.

Note: Extra copies of this family history may be had from the compiler at $1.00 each.

Short Biography of Andrew Emerick

“ANDREAS EMRICH, or ANDREW EMERICK” as he called himself in English, came to this country from Germany, on the Ship, “CHARMING MOLLY” Oct. 22, 1773.

He enlisted in the War of the Revolution, Berks Co., Pa., in Captain George Miller’s Company and was On Duty, Sept. 5, 1776 at South Amboy, N. J. After serving the time of his enlistment, he returned to Berks Co., Pa., where he paid ‘Taxes’ for three years, one year, (1780) as a single man, and 1781-1782, as a married man.

He was married in the fall of 1780, to Christena Heller, a German girl (The Heller’s family coming here from Germany) and on JULY 4th, 1781, his son John, was born. As his family increased, his expenses grew, and not seeing any chance for advancement financially, he decided to move, and in 1783 he settled in Londonberry Tp., Bedford Co., Pa. (now Somerset Co.) in the western part of the state of Pa. where he paid his first taxes on his new home. Here (after his long tedious journey over the mountains with his family) he prospered, financially and physically, for at one time he owned over 1,000 acres of fine land in Pennsylvania and some of it in Ohio. He gave each of his children 160 acres of land. He was 91 years old when he died, and they buried him beside his noble wife (who had preceeded him in death by a few years, and some of his children who had died while young) on the old farm, where the monument still stands that marks the grave.

A SHORT BIOGRAPHY OF JOHN EMERICK

From the Ashland Co., Ohio History

"JOHN EMERICK, was born in Berks Co., Pa. on July 4th 1781. Came to Ohio in 1821, and settled on the farm now owned by Lewis Chesrown. He was a wagon maker and a blacksmith by trade and followed that business about twelve years in Ohio, when he gave it up and was engaged in farming until the time of his death, which occurred in 1847.

He married Mary M. Troutman of Somerset Co., Pa.

For several years he held the office of trustee in Lake Tp. and although not a member of any church, contributed largely to the building and support of all the churches in his vicinity. He was the father of nine children, six of whom are living, viz.: Drucilla, wife of William North; Mary, wife of George Cornell; Christena, wife of Simon Topper; George, who married Sarah Guthery; Rebecca, wife of Michael Otto; and Alexander, who married Mary A. Yocum.

(The above was taken from the Ashland Co. History. Dated April 10th. 1876)

"JOHN EMERICK, was born in Tulpenhoccin Tp. Berks Co., Pa., July 4, 1781. He was the oldest child and son of Andrew Emerick and Christena Heller, and lived there until the year of 1783 when he with his parents and brother Jacob moved to Bedford Co., Pa. (now known as Somerset Co.) where he grew to manhood. He married a neighbor girl, by the name of Mary Magdalena Troutman, in the year of 1802, and lived in Somerset Co., Pa. until the year of 1819, when he purchased 160 acres of land of his father, located in Ashland Co., Ohio on May 17th, 1819. Then taking his second son Jacob with him to the new home, they prepared a field for corn and built a log house on what is now known as the Ellis Morris farm which is noted for the wonderful spring, near where the old house stood, near Mohicanville, Ohio.

One day in the fall of the year, they heard what sounded like a cow-bell ringing in the center of the cornfield, and after a quiet investigation they discovered an Indian sitting down in the midst of the corn ringing a bell, and as they were very troublesome about that time, he took his gun and went around the field, coming up behind the Indian, the bell suddenly ceased ringing and he thought it safer for he and Jacob to return to Pa. for a time at least, which they, did, not returning till the year of 1821, when he moved his family to the new home, where he lived until his death from smallpox, in the year of 1847.

He was a large man, but not fleshy, weighing at one time about 225 lbs. He was a little over six feet in height, a wonderful specimen of manhood, with a very striking appearance, with coal black hair and deep blue eyes, and a firm commanding though gentle look on his magnificent face. They buried him in the Mohicanville cemetery, where a tombstone or slab marks his last resting place. After his death Mary Magdalena Emerick, his widow, went to western Ohio to live with their son Andrew, where she died and was buried in the North Wilshire Cemetery, Adams Co., Ind. between Decatur and North Wilshire.

JOHN EMERICK, was born in Somerset Co., Pa. in the year of 1803 and lived there until the year of 1822 when he came with his parents to Ashland Co., Ohio, where he lived on the farm, near Mohicanville, which he afterwards purchased, March 2nd, 1848, for the sum of three thousand dollars, cash in hand, and lived there until the year of 1861, when he sold out and moved to Indiana, locating on a farm which he had purchased, about 5 miles northeast of Kendallville, where he lived until his death, from paralysis, in the year of 1879. He was buried in the Weston Chapel Cemetery, in sight of his old home, now owned by Homer Barker.

Like his father, he was a blacksmith by trade, and at one time he was called the stoutest man in Ashland Co., Ohio, for at one time a large log rolled on a man by the name of Joe Kimberlin, (at a log rolling) when John Emerick picked up the log alcre and threw it off of him. It was said at the time that no two men could have performed this feat.

He was a large man weighing at one time about 230 lbs. When young he had black curly hair, and black eyes. He was a kindly man and not one of his children could truthfully say that he ever laid a hand on them while angry.

They buried him and his noble wife in the old Weston Chapel Cemetery where a large, handsome monument marks the place they lie.

A SHORT BIOGRAPHY OF

SAMPSON T. EMERICK AND CATHERINE EBERHART

SAMPSON THOMAS EMERICK, was born in Ashland Co., Ohio, in the year of 1827 where he lived with his parents until the age of 22 years, when he was married to Miss Catherine Eberhart of that county, when he engaged in farming for himself, and lived there until the year of 1854 when he came to Wayne Tp., Noble Co., Ind. and owned and cleared up 230 acres of fine land.

He was a tall slender man (like his mother's people) with red hair, blue eyes and very fair complexion. He was a very industrious man and with the help of his good wife they improved their home in which they were content to live until their death, she in 1891, and he in 1909, when they laid them to rest in beautiful Lake View Cemetery, Kendallville, Ind. where a fine monument marks their last resting place.

They were life long members of the Wayne Center M. E. Church, and many people in this community remember the fervent heart felt prayers of Bro. Sampson T. Emerick, as he knelt in submission and supplication to his Master's will.

Like all the older Emericks, he was a home loving man, but was elected Justice of the Peace and served in that office for two years.

A SHORT STORY

JOHN W. EMERICK was born the 29th day of April, 1833, in Licking Co., Ohio. His father did not like the water there on account of it being sulphur, so they moved back to Ashland Co., Ohio, and lived there till the year of 1852 when he got the California Gold Fever. He was attending school and every night when he came home he would say 'Pappy may I go to California with the boys?' But Pappy would not say until the night before they started, when he said "Yes." He was the happiest boy in Ashland Co. that night. The next morning he went to Rowsburg where he gave Jake Greenwalt $125.00 to take him to California. There was a company of 25 going, two of his cousins (Long) John Horn, and Noah Emerick, were with them, with John Aukie and George Eberhart in the bunch. They took the 'Overland Trail' going and landed safely in California after many hardships.

After three years of mining for gold they broke camp and were ready to start home when one of the boys came down with smallpox. All of them were preparing to leave when John W. Emerick said, "Are you all going? This man will die. If no one else will stay, I will." And stay he did until the man got well. Then he came home by way of boat, for he never took the smallpox.

He was the youngest one in camp and he brought home enough gold to purchase the old home where he raised a very large family, and which his father allowed him to keep if he would stay and work for him for 2 years, for he was only 19 years old when he went to California and all boys worked for their parents until they were 21 years of age at that time.

In the year of 1858 he came to Indiana where he worked at clearing up land, but he soon tired of this and he with another young man started out to see if they could not find a more suitable location, but after going through Wisconsin, Minnesota and down into Kansas and most of the western states, they returned to Indiana where he finally purchased the old home where he lived so successfully until his death. In the year of 1860 he was married to Phenire Smith, daughter of Josiah and Rachel Smith, and to them were born 14 children, 10 girls and 4 boys, all living but 2 boys who preceeded him in death. He was a very highly respected man in the community where he lived, and even the young men considered it a great honor to visit 'Old Clem' as they loved to call him, and seek his helpful advice and friendship. He was a very successful farmer, owning about 600 acres of fine land in Wayne Tp., Noble Co., Ind. He held the office of Justice of the Peace a number of years, and was an honorable member of the Masonic Lodge at Kendallville, they performing the burial rights at his death. He died with paralysis and was buried in Weston Chapel Cemetery where a beautiful monument marks his last resting place.

A SHORT STORY

“JACOB EMERICK” was born in the year of 1806 near the old Emerick Farm, situated on the head waters of Gladdens Run, in Somerset Co., Pa., where he lived until the age of 13 years, when he, with his father, came to Ashland Co., Ohio, where they cleared up a field and planted it to corn, and built a log house on it. (Read this story in his father’s biography). This was Jakies first thrilling experience of which the story was told many times and is still told by Andrew’s grandson, “Lafayette Emerick,” who is still living at this time (1930) near Helmer, Ind.

In the spring of 1821 he, with his parents, moved to the new home his father had bought in Ashland Co., Ohio, where he grew to be a very influential man in that community, for he was elected three terms as County Commissioner of Ashland County. He died at the age of 58 years, and a post-mortem disclosed a tumor weighing 75 lbs. The tumor was kept in alcohol in the Wooster, Ohio, Hospital for many years, but was finally placed in a museum in New York.

He was buried in No. 16, or Pioneer Graveyard near Mohicanville, Ohio, where a large monument marks the grave where he lies.

A SHORT STORY OF

"JACOB EMERICK" grew to manhood on the old home farm near Mohicanville, Ohio. Then he got the California Gold Fever in 1849 and his father staked him to $500.00, providing he would give him one half of what he made! Then Jacob left with a company of 200 men, taking the "Overland Trail." They had no trouble in crossing the Mississippi River, but when they tried to cross the Platte River it was so swift the mules were afraid to venture. Every time Jake would push one of them off the raft they would turn around and swim back to shore. After two or three times pushing them in a big Dutchman that was with them told Jake "not to push them off again," and when Jacob pushed them off again the big Dutchman hit Jacob and he fell into the water, and he had to swim to shore, but Jacob managed to get across the river first and when the Dutchman was riding a horse across the river he had about reached the center of the river, when Jacob leveled his gun on him and told him to "Roll off that horse" and Dutch thought it best to obey, and, grabbing the horse's tail, he came safely to shore.

The men suffered many hardships while going as there was danger of the Indians attacking them, and their food got scarce. A great many of them turned around and went back home. The rest that went on got so weak that they threw all the guns away but two of them, then Jacob took Tom Peterson aside and showed where he had saved a couple of hundred dollars in his clothes. He said, "Tom I have enough to take us through, no difference what happens you and I will stick together." They shook hands on that and both felt better. One morning about sun up while crossing the prairie an arrow came flying into camp. The men knew what that meant, so they whirled their horses around and made breast works of them. Then Jake looked around and saw Peterson crying. He said, "Tom D— you make use of that gun." When the fight was over there were nine Indians lying on the ground, and one white man was missing. They then traveled on and made camp for the night and about 3 o'clock the next morning the missing man came crawling into camp with an arrow sticking in his back. He said he had hid in the long grass until the Indians had left, then followed the trail. There were many difficulties in crossing the mountains, some places they had to tie long poles across the wagon and all the men get on this to keep the wagon from tipping over. All the men took with the mountain fever, but Jake and one other man and they knew they would die if they left them. So they cursed them and even threatened to shoot them if they did not sit up and drive the horses. Finally they thought they would have to leave them, but they talked it over and decided to stay with them one more day. About sun down they came out of the mountains and went into camp and the next morning the men were all ready for breakfast, for the fever had left them.

After about three or four years of mining they started home by way of boat. There was nothing at that time but sailing craft which had to sail around South America to reach home. When nearing the equator they encountered a terrible storm which blew them 100 miles out of their way. Then followed 21 days of calm in which the old craft rested very quietly. During the storm Jake had taken very sea sick but the Captain thought he had spotted fever and ordered a sack of sand to be tied to his feet, and thrown overboard, when Tom Peterson drew his gun and said, "I'll shoot the first man that touches him!" The next morning he was ready for his breakfast. When he returned home he had rheumatism so bad he was not out of his father's yard for 6 months. Then he and his father came to Indiana and purchased 410 acres of fine land about 8 miles south of Ft. Wayne, and in looking for a place to board he found his wife, Elizabeth Chapman, at the home of George Chapman. He was a very public spirited man serving as Trustee for two terms in Pleasant Tp. and a very ardent Democrat. He also was a member of the Olive Branch of Masonic Lodge of Poe, and served as secretary for ten or twelve years.

(Lake View Cemetery, Kendallville, Ind.)

“GEORGE EMERICK,” one of the most successful pioneers of Fairfield Township, was born in Somerset County, Pa., May 3, 1818, the seventh of nine children of John and Mary (Troutman) Emerick, and a grandson of Andrew Emerick (who was a soldier under General Washington) and Peter Troutman, natives of Germany, who came to the United States prior to the war of the Revolution. When our subject was four years old, his parents moved to Wayne Co., Ohio, and there he grew to manhood, residing with his parents until his majority. He then followed agricultural pursuits for himself until 1851, when he came to DeKalb Co., Ind., and bought 280 acres of heavily timbered land. Here he and his wife commenced to make a home for themselves and, though obliged to endure all the privations and inconveniences of pioneer life, they were uncomplaining, having the assurance that the future was one of prosperity. They now have a landed estate of 400 acres and one of the most pleasant homes in the county. Mr. Emerick was married May 4th, 1839, to Sarah Guthrie, a native of Richland Co., Ohio, daughter of Richard and Mary (Vanseoy) Guthrie, natives of Pennsylvania, of Irish and German descent. To them have been born six children, five of whom are living—Mary J., wife of Solomon Boyer; George W.; Peter Alexander; Lucinda Catherine, wife of Benjamin Wilhoit; and Andrew Jackson. Francis M. died, aged five years. In politics Mr. Emerick is a Democrat.

(THIS WAS COPIED FROM THE DEKALB COUNTY HISTORY AND WAS WRITTEN BY GEORGE EMERICK, WHILE LIVING, IN THE YEAR OF 1885.)
